

NEWLANDS

GLENCORE

FAST FACTS

Location

Ownership

Newlands Coal is managed by Glencore on behalf of a joint venture partnership between Glencore Coal Queensland (55%), Itochu Coal Resources (35%) and Sumitomo (10%).

The Newlands Coal mine is located 33 km north-west of the township of Glenden in the northern part of Queensland's Bowen Basin, 190 kilometres by road west of Mackay.

Coal from Newlands is transported 171 km by rail to the port of Abbot Point for shipment to overseas customers.

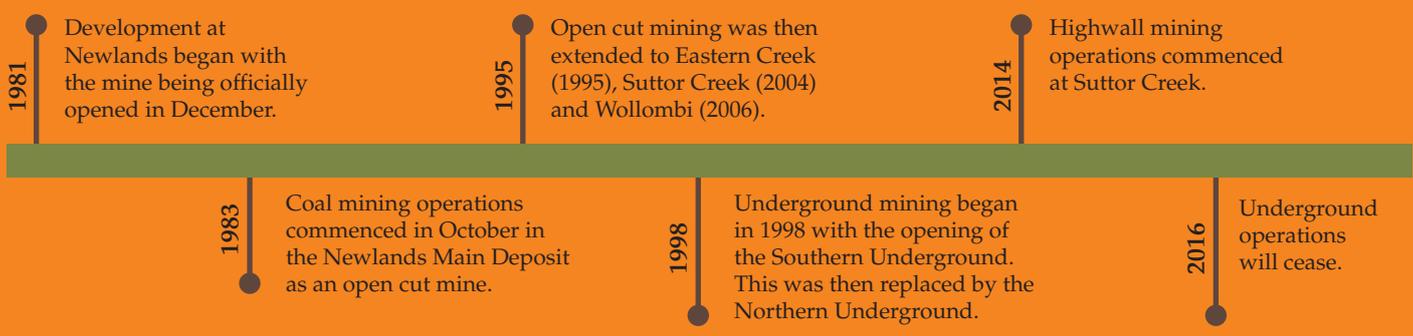

Our people

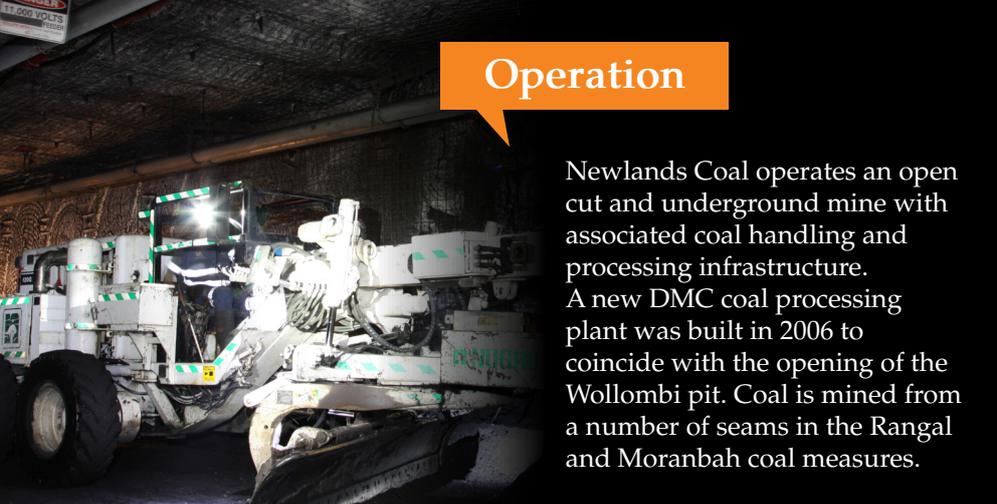

600 STAFF

Our History

Operation

Newlands Coal operates an open cut and underground mine with associated coal handling and processing infrastructure. A new DMC coal processing plant was built in 2006 to coincide with the opening of the Wollombi pit. Coal is mined from a number of seams in the Rangal and Moranbah coal measures.

Total area of land managed by Newlands Coal

157,865ha

Mining lease areas

31,739ha

Environmental Management

- Original land use in the area is predominately cattle grazing on native and improved pastures.
- A single Environmental Authority covers all environmental management activities for the entire site.
- A Plan of Operations is submitted on an annual basis which covers the details relating to each mining area and in accordance with the Environmental Protection Legislation.

Annual Production for Newlands Coal

2014 SALEABLE COAL

6.97 million tonnes

CURRENT FLEET / EQUIPMENT

- Open Cut Operations
2 draglines supported by pre-stripping and coal mining by rope shovels and hydraulic excavators
- Underground Operations
A single longwall

NEWLANDS ~ ACHIEVEMENTS ~

1

Numerous regional awards relating to education, community, engineering and vocational training programs.

Community

Newlands coal mine supports the community of Glenden through programs which involve education, child care, health and sporting/cultural activities.

Contact details:

Ph: 07 4940 5200 | www.xstratacoal.com/EN/Operations/Pages/NewlandsCoal | www.glencore.com

NEWLANDS

GLENCORE